FROM PEACE RIVER.

W. H. Carson arrived from Peace river yesterday. He was fourteen days in travelling from Peace river crossing. He met between fifty and sixty teams loaded with freight for Lesser Slave 1 k. between the Landing and the lake, and twenty-five or thirty between the lake and Peace river. Mr. Carson operates a small steam flour mill at Peace river crossing and grinds the wheat crop of the settlement which amounted last season to about 6,000 bushels. The sample was excellent but the wheat is inclined to become amity if not bluestoned. There was a good crop of oats also, some 4,000 bushels, and a little barley as well. Mr. Carson met W. Latimer on his way to Peace river to prospect and settle, and he also met J. Grant's teams near the Landing. Weather this winter has been much the same on Peace river as at Edmonton. The late cold snap was felt at Lesser Slave lake, where the thermometer went down to 42 below. Snow has been about the same depth at Peace river as at Edmonton, all winter, but it is somewhat deeper from the lake to the Landing than it is this side of the Landing. Mr. Carson returns to Peace river early next week.

FROM THE FAR NORTH.

Jas. Hislop, of Hislop & Nagle, fur traders on the Mackenzie river, arrived from Fort Rae, on the northern arm of Great Slave lake, yesterday. Mr. Hislop will go east to visit relatives and will return in the spring to go down the river with the Great Slave in the spring. Fort Rae is in latitude 63 degrees north, nearly ten degrees or 70 miles due north of Edmonton. The distance to be travelled, however, is much greater being not less than a thousand miles. Dog teams were used all the way to the Athabasca Landing. The headquarters of the firm is at Fort Resolution on the south shore of Great Slave lake. They own and operate a steamer which plys on the waters of the Mackenzie and Great Slave river and lake from the rapids at Fort Smith to the mouth of Peel river near the Arctic ocean, a distance of over a thousand miles.

CURIOUS.

Yesterday afternoon McGeorge beat Macroe 8 to 3. In the evening Morris beat McDonald, 17 to 9.

THE GREAT WHEAT BELT.

The wealth of the world is wheat. It is not only the ultimate measure of riches and the final standard of value, but it is wealth itself. As the wheat crop of the world is great or small, so the civilized world is rich or poor. This was true four thousand years ago and it is true to-day. Because there was always corn in Egypt, that country drew to itself the poor who needed food and the rich who looked for opportunity. Labor and capital, energy and ambition were brought together. The secret of the wonderful wealth and civilization of the Nile Valley four thousand years ago was its never failing crops of wheat.

Wheat is strength as well as wealth, and is as much the foundation and mainstay of present day civilization as it was of the empires of Egypt and of Babylon. The advance of science and invention during forty centuries have not decreased but rather increased the pre-eminence of wheat in the life and work of civilized man. The spread of the growth of wheat on the North American continent has been the spread of civilization; and is the foundation of the wonderful advance not only of North America but of the civilized world during the past half century. The possibility of wealth in the growth of wheat was the attraction which drew men on and on into the wilds of America and the cheapened bread which was its result has improved the condition of the millions of civilized Europe. Science and invention have been inspired and compelled by the necessities created by the growth, manufacture and distribution of wheat and bread. The Atlantic cables, the Atlantic liners, the railway systems of the two civilized continents, the lumber trade, the iron trade, the cotton trade, every branch of commerce and industry depends on the yield and increase of wheat for its success. Upon the production of wheat is built the wealth, if not the very existence, of the civilized world, and even civilization itself. Therefore the opening of any considerable new area to wheat production is a matter of world-wide interest.

The region best adapted to the growth, and that can longest sustain the profitable production, of wheat has within itself the essential elements of civilized greatness, for not only will wheat buy every other product and the result of every industry on earth but the latitudes within which wheat is produced to greatest perfection are the latitudes in which civilized man and the civilization of which he boasts reach their highest development. The people of a wheat producing country are not always rich or highly civilized. But the fault is in the conditions surrounding the industry, not in the industry itself. Under other and better conditions in America, the cultivation of wheat has spread an enlightened, a progressive and a wealthy people far and wide over the United States and Canada; has built great cities, and brought into being huge systems of commerce and industry, all dependent upon, and serving the needs of, the grower of wheat.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Wheat.—Manitoba wheat has been very quiet all week, with very little doing. The demand is very light, but at same time sellers are indifferent, and wheat is never pressed on the market. The range in prices during the week has not got beyond 1-2c, and at the close of business yesterday we quoted 1 hard at 74c, 1 Nor. 72c, 2 Nor., 70-3-4c, 3 Nor. 68-1-4c, spot on February delivery, and for May delivery 1 hard 73-3-4c, 1 Nor. 71-3-4c, 2 Nor. 73c, and 3 Nor. 70-1-2c. 3 Nor and lower grades are very dull and hard to sell. Some 3 Nor. for May delivery was sold yesterday as low as 70c. Buyers are not in the market for it. All prices are in store Fort William, Port Arthur or Duluth.

Oats.—The market seems to be continually on short allowance. Stocks in farmers' hands are undoubtedly large, but as they find their way to market very slowly this fact does not help things very much. Farmers are notoriously unfailingly in the discharge of their contracts, too, which makes it difficult for dealers to know just what oats they will have at any given time. Contracts to ship oats at stated prices are being continually broken by farmers without the slightest compensation. As to prices, we note an advance of about 1 to 1-2c over those in force a week ago. No. 1 white, in carlots on track are to-day worth 30-1-2c per bushel; No. 2 white, 28-1-2c, and feed grades, 27c. Farmers' loads on the street are bringing 28c, and at country points, 25c. Brokers are asking 26 to 28c for carlots in the country.

Barley.—The market is firm and the movement light. Dealers are paying 31c to 32c per bushel for feed grades on the street here.

The concert given in the Methodist church on the 24th, by Mrs. and Mr. Finch, and Miss Reid of Strathcona, assisted by local talent, was particularly enjoyable and merited a larger audience. About 100, perhaps, were present. A vote of thanks moved by Mr. Moran, teacher, in a very witty speech, and seconded by Mr. Goulet, of the bank, was heartily carried.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET.

The annual banquet of the Edmonton board of trade was held last evening in the Criterion restaurant. There was a fair attendance, which would have been much larger had it not been for the prevailing epidemic of grip. J. B. Mercer, president for the coming year, presided. The vice-chair was occupied by J. H. Morris, Clark's orchestra was present and added greatly to the attractions of the evening. The spread was entirely creditable to the Criterion management.

After the eatables had been disposed of the chairman opened the proceedings with a short and informal address in which he expressed regret at the absence of the president, K. W. MacKenzie, through illness in his family. It was pleasant to note that town and country were progressing and that the sphere of influence of the Edmonton board of trade was constantly enlarging.

The toast list was as follows:

"The King" responded to by the company, singing "God Save the King."
"Houses of Parliament," responded to by F. Oliver, M. P. No members of the Territorial assembly were present.
Song, "Last Night," by W. Clark.

"Town of Edmonton," responded to by J. A. McDougall and D. R. Fraser. Mr. Richardson took occasion to mention that as many tickets had been sold as the dining room would accommodate, but that a number were prevented from attending because of illness.

The orchestra played a very acceptable selection.

"Our Visitors," was responded to by W. F. Bredin, of Lesser Slave lake, and by Mr. Benister, of Winnipeg.

Song, "Row Your Boat," E. Raymer, which was received with special applause.

Orchestra selection.

"The Ladies," responded to by Wilfrid Garipey. The name of Mr. Jory was also coupled with this toast.

J. A. McDougall proposed the health of the new president of the board, the chairman of the evening, Mr. Mercer. In doing so he hoped that the president would put up as good a fight in case of any combination against Edmonton's interests as our hockey boys had in the recent match.

Mr. Mercer in reply said that the next three years would be the most important in Edmonton's history, and would make or break us. Every effort should be made to secure the concentration of present railway projects at this point.

The proceedings were brought to a close about half past eleven o'clock by the singing of "God Save the King."
